CASE STUDY

Equipment Upgrades

> Beautify and protect

Strong relationships are always at the root of our business. And our relationship with a large, local infrastructure construction company began with a seemingly minor neighborhood friendship. The question that was asked was a simple one... "Can you guys paint heavy equipment?"

The answer was "of course we can" and from that simple answer back in 2013 we began to bring our painting expertise to the world of heavy equipment in a major way. In the years since, we have brought back to life pieces such as D9 & D10 dozers, a multitude of 777 Rock trucks, John Deer track hoes among others. Not only does a fresh coat of paint beautify, it also protects. And for equipment that takes a beating day in and out, the protection is truly the most important aspect.
